HIGH FIDELITY WRAPAROUND

A YOUTH & FAMILY
CENTERED APPROACH TO CARE COORDINATION AND TRANSITION PLANNING

What is High Fidelity Wraparound?

High Fidelity Wrap Around is an evidence based care coordination and family support model that centers youth and their families experiencing varying levels of crisis, mental health challenges, and complex transitions. Youth and families work with a dedicated, family curated team to define and meet needs, craft authentic and attainable goals with a step by step plan, and enhance family self-sufficiency. HFW is a non-clinical service that brings everyone on a youth's natural team to the table to collaborate toward a shared vision of a successful, healthy future.

10 Core Principles

Family Voice & Choice : Determination of needs; development of vision, goals, and prioritization centers family autonomy as their own experts
Team-Based: The family identifies people on their own who are invested in positive outcomes and have information to share
Natural Supports: Strengthening extended family and social supports to support the family long term and for a successful transition
Collaboration & Integration: All providers and natural supports agree to work together for the good of the family
Community Based: Plans are developed to support the youth and family in the community and integrate them into everyday community activities
Culturally Competent: Taking time to understand family traditions, beliefs, and cultural practices & preferences to tailor plans
Individualized: Plans are created to best build on a family's unique strengths and culture and address their unique needs
Strengths-Based: Focusing on unique strengths & abilities of the family as a foundation for change. Building families up with confidence towards self-efficacy
Unconditional Care: Commitment to stick to the family and continually adapt
Outcome-Based & Cost Responsible: Measure the outcomes and quality of wraparound for constant improvement
